LIVELY MEETING OF COMMISSION

Governor Tener Goes Contrary to Commission and Tells Southerners to Wear their Uniforms. General Wagner Criticizes Town.

Passionately pleading that Confederate soldiers be allowed to wear their gray uniforms at the semi-centennial of the Battle of Gettysburg, General Felix H. Robertson, of Texas, Friday failed to move the Commission which has charge of the celebration, but deeply stirred the finer nature of Governor Tener. More gallant than the body the Governor declared that the Southern soldiers will be welcomed at Gettysburg in any garb they may choose to wear. He also championed the unconstructed general, when General Louis Wagner, chairman of the Commission, censured him for using a mild invective.

General Robertson made his appeal before the Commission and the delegates of a score of states who had assembled with Governor Tener in the Union League to perfect the plans for the reunion of 40,000 survivors of the Civil War, representing both armies, on the historic battlefield next July. He spoke with the proverbial eloquence of the Southron and made a profound impression upon his hearers.

The clash with the chairman came immediately following the Confederate's impassioned speech. So intense had he become in his earnest plea that his comrades be permitted to wear their uniforms at the great reunion that he emphasized his remarks with a sprinkling of "dams." General Wagner took exception to the swear-word and ordered the secretary to record his objection on the minutes of the conference. General Robertson sprang to his feet and apologized profusely.

When it became apparent that his appeal had failed to win over the Commission on the question of uniforms, General Robertson bitterly arraigned the members of the C. A. R. for their hostile attitude toward their one-time foes. He said:

"There was never a greater mistake in the history of the world than the Civil War; but, on the other hand, you veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic have never made peace, and the credit for the feeling now existing between the people of the North and the South is due to your sons and not to any of you. We only quit fighting when we were forced to, speaking for myself, we would have been fighting yet if we had not seen that it was a hopeless task to defeat you."

"We were forced into the Union, and now we ask that you take us as we are. Allow the old Confederates to go to Gettysburg in their tattered uniforms. Many of them do not know that the war is over, and if you decide that these gray uniforms must be left at home a large number of those who wear them will refuse to attend the great encampment."

"The feeling down South is that we should all come back for the last time wearing our old uniforms and carrying our muskets, cartridge belts and tattered flags. You were able to drive us back in 1863 and so there is no reason why you should fear us now."

"I think I speak for every Southern soldier when I say that if you intend celebrating a victory, then do not permit us to join in it; but if it is peace you are commemorating, all we ask as a subdued people is that we come in whatever garb we may see fit. We have no objection whatever to the veterans of the Union Army wearing their old blue uniforms."

The crisis in the uniform situation was reached when Colonel Charles Burrows, of New Jersey, moved that no uniforms except those of the United States Army and the Pennsylvania National Guard appear on the battlefield during the celebration. The proposed resolution was immediately frowned upon by General Louis Wagner, General Horatio King, of New York, and General J. Thompson Brown, Virginia. After a lengthy discussion it was decided to defer voting on the resolution until some future date.

Governor Tener, speaking for the State of Pennsylvania, then caused a mild sensation among the members of the G. A. R. when he declared that the Confederate veterans will be welcomed at the encampment in any uniform they choose to wear. The Governor declared that the state will provide finances for their entertainment and that all the veterans need do is to deliver themselves at the battlefield on the first day of July. The Governor, at the conclusion of his address, mildly censured General Wagner, who insisted upon entertaining a motion to adjourn, although veterans were on their feet wishing to speak. Their request was finally granted.

How a town consisting of 4030 people will be able to care for an army of visitors that is estimated will reach 200,000 was one of the questions that was discussed but not settled at the conference on the battle anniversary in Philadelphia on Friday. Dr. Singmaster, a member of the Gettysburg Town Council Committee, told the Commission that the town is bankrupt and cannot be expected to provide sanitary equipment, although it is preparing accommodations for about 15,000 persons. What is to become of the other 185,000 visitors who are expected was not explained.

SLAP FOR GETTYSBURG

General Wagner took a fling at the town of Gettysburg when he declared that we are neither patriotic nor progressive enough to sacrifice a little to make the celebration a success. General Wagner said that the state has already appropriated $250,000 for the entertainment of the veterans and cannot be expected to do more. Later, however, the Commission agreed to furnish the town with an equipped hospital during the four days, a large detail of State Police and lavatories. Colonel Edward O. Skelton, of Massachusetts, said that on patriotic occasions of this kind the hotelmen, storekeepers, liveries and others, who will surely profit by the celebration, should go down into their own pockets to provide sanitary equipment.

Dr. Singmaster resented the inference that business men of Gettysburg are acting under selfish motives. He pointed out that while several hotels here have a capacity of 250 persons and have received upward of 1700 requests for reservations, they have only raised their rates 50 cents a day. Accommodations at private houses, he said, can be had for $1.50 and $2 a day. General Wagner brought the discussion to an end by declaring that the Commission will take up the subject later.

Dr. Singmaster and Dr. Granville also told of the arrangements to accommodate a large number of distinguished visitors in the Seminary and College buildings.

When the roll of the states was called Friday by Secretary Beittler for the purpose of ascertaining how much money has been appropriated by each state and the number each intends sending to the encampment, it developed that only a few Southern states have provided money to send Confederate veterans to the encampment. In a few instances Northern States have yet failed to make a provision to send their veteran soldiers. The reports of the representatives present and the communications from those absent indicate that almost 50,000 veterans wish to attend the reunion of the Blue and Gray. It was feared for a time that the number would have to be restricted to those who actually fought in the historic battle, but it is considered likely that all those who fought in the war will be invited to come to Gettysburg.

WILL COME LATER

Congressman Lafean Required in Washington on Wednesday Next.

Because the interests of the Lincoln Way will require his presence in Washington next Wednesday, Congressman Lafean will not be able to be in Gettysburg on Tuesday evening to deliver his lecture on "The Panama Canal." It will be given at some future date to be announced later.

The Senate on Tuesday went on record the second time in favor of the Lincoln memorial project in Washington. Declaring that it was profanity to use Abraham Lincoln's name in connection with the promotion of a road project, former Speaker Cannon urged the Senate to pass the bill for the construction of a $2,000,000 Lincoln memorial. Washington, Lincoln, Lee and Jefferson Davis were named by Mr. Cannon as the greatest men in American history. Their names, he said, would be remembered when the men prominent in public life today had been forgotten.

DRIVING ACCIDENT

Three McSherrytown Men Hurt when Thrown from Buggy.

Hughes Graft, of McSherrytown, was thrown from a buggy on Wednesday evening and had his head and face badly bruised and his left thumb broken. The young man, accompanied by Frederick Small and John Wireman, were on their way home from New Oxford when the horse became unmanageable and ran away. The three men were thrown out, Small receiving a few slight bruises, but Wireman escaping unhurt. The buggy was broken, and the runaway horse was found later at the home of James Devine, Edgegrove, from whom it had been purchased a few weeks ago.

AMATEURS GIVE MUSICAL SHOW

Town Amateurs, Assisted by College Boys, Give Musical Comedy before Appreciative Audience. Many Tuneful Numbers are Sung.

The amateur players of town, assisted by a goodly number of college students, presented "The Merry Travelers," a tuneful musical show, to the entire satisfaction of an appreciative audience in the Wizard Theatre on Friday evening. The show is mostly music and "steps," the plot of the comedy being about one-tenth as intricate as that of the usual musical show, but this did not detract in any way from the enjoyment of the evening and the play made good.

The little ones were given the privilege and pleasure of opening the evening and four remarkably well executed numbers soon had the audience in a merry frame of mind. Little Helen Tenant led a lot of girls in white with "Cry Baby," and Jeanne Heindel and Lucile Bender sang a rousing barn dance with the assistance of the same girls, in attractive red and white costumes. A chorus of tiny boys in the trampiest of tramp make-ups made one of the biggest "kid" hits which the Wizard has seen and this was followed soon after by a negro specialty "Uncle Joe," by Harry Walter and an able sextette, that brought forth the most vigorous approval.

And then came "The Merry Travelers." What story there is to the play concerns the wandering Mr. and Mrs. Traveler and their friends. Miss Lillian Ring as the constantly discontented wife, ever wanting to go somewhere else, and Mr. Steele as the submissive husband, were delightful and Miss Ring's singing during the evening made several numbers among the best ever given at a local home talent offering.

The pretty waltz song by Miss Ring and Mr. Hepler in the second act was worthy of very special comment and the audience was quick to voice its approval as they gracefully waltzed off the stage at the conclusion of the tuneful duet. Encores were demanded. Again in the finale of the show Miss Ring's singing of "Roses Bloom for Lovers" was well worth the applause it received. A chorus of twenty girls and boys sang with her as five large see-saws, each bearing a pair of pretty girls, and decorated with vari-colored lights and artificial roses, went up and down.

There were many good choruses in the entertainment. "Shorty" Reed with his six good looking maidens in the "Drummer" chorus scored heavily early in the program; while the "Gibson Man" chorus—an old-time favorite with Gettysburg audiences—brought forth a generous response. Mr. Wray and a double sextette were good in their "Sweetheart" song and the audience enjoyed thoroughly the "College Yell" by Mr. Robinson and another chorus. Miss Ethel Zinzand led a cowboy song, Mr. Lantz the old "Gee, but I'm Glad that I'm Home again" and Miss Rudisill and Mr. Lang with another chorus sang a tuneful airship melody while the "ship" came slowly down from the "sky," picked up a little girl, and disappeared. There were other songs and good ones, but there were too many to comment upon in detail. Sufficient to say that the attraction is up to the standard set by other home talent affairs given in Gettysburg.

The entertainment is given under the auspices of the Episcopalian Guild and is directed by Miss Leonhardt, of New York. It will be repeated this evening.

MRS. EMANUEL FINK

Mrs. Fink Dies in Littlestown after Lingering Illness.

After a lingering, Mrs. Catharine Fink, died at her home in Littlestown on Monday.

She was born near White Hall, and was aged 66 years, 4 months and 9 days. Her maiden name was Catharine Snyder. About 25 years ago they moved from this county to Maryland, and seven years ago they moved from Taneytown to Littlestown.

Surviving her are her husband, and the following children: Mrs. Harry Hawk, of Hanover; Mrs. Chas. Crebs, of Taneytown; Mrs. Jesse Frock, of Keymar; Mrs. George S. Stover, of Littlestown; William Fink, of New Oxford; Arkansas, of Taneytown; Charles, of Keymar, and Claude, of South Dakota. Also the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. James Weaver, near Harney; Mrs. Rufus Sponseller, Golden's Station; Josiah Snyder, York; Charles Snyder, of near Yoost's Store; Samuel Snyder, of Mt. Pleasant township, and Amos Snyder, of Mt. Joy township. Twenty eight grandchildren also survive.

The funeral was held Thursday in Littlestown.

AS TO FOOD SALES

Littlestown Says that Gettysburg and Hanover are Way Behind.

The exigencies of church and society finance have of late years developed the "food sale." From the holidays through the winter is a time of hearty eating when home-made cooking will always find a ready market. We have cut them out here in Littlestown; but they are still in vogue at Gettysburg and down in Hanover.

On the strictly economic basis, it may be complained that the housewife puts 50 cents worth of material into a pie that sells for only 35 cents. If she would contribute the 50 cents outright, the church would be 15 cents to the good. She could then spend her time darning stockings or playing bridge.

But intuitive womankind knows perfectly that the egg basket and cream jar can be touched up a half dozen times for material worth 50 cents a time, when the Old Man would not give $1 in cash more than once.—Littlestown Independent.

HELD FOR COURT

They loaded three other shots before it fell, using 164 sticks to do the work. The jar shook the windows of many houses.

ORDER WARSHIPS TO TURKEY

Powers to Guard Following Revolt in Constantinople.

WAR MAY BE RESUMED

A Resumption of Hostilities With the Balkan States Is Inevitable Unless Europe Intervenes.

London, Jan. 25.—Italian, British and other warships have been ordered to proceed immediately to Turkish waters, according to dispatches from Mediterranean ports, to be ready for possible trouble following the political upheaval in Constantinople.

The confirmation of the news of the complete revision of feeling in Constantinople against the proposed surrender to the allies has created the impression among the peace delegates that war will begin again almost immediately.

There are, however, two currents of opinion among the representatives of the Balkan League. One of these is in favor of asking Sir Edward Grey, as honorary president of the peace conference, immediately to convene a session at which the resumption of hostilities will be declared. The other urges that the powers should first be allowed to deal with Turkey.

Turkey May Resume War.

Constantinople, Jan. 25.—The revolutionary outbreak which led to the overthrow of the Kiamil cabinet and the killing of Nazim Pasha, former minister of war and commander-in-chief of the Turkish army, has precipitated a crisis in the affairs of Turkey that may have far-reaching consequences.

A resumption of hostilities with the Balkan states is regarded as probable, and the intervention of European powers to prevent this and to maintain order in the capital, if necessary, is already being talked of among close observers of the situation.

Thousands of troops are said to have been moved from the Asiatic side of the Bosphorus into European Turkey upon orders from Enver Bey. Troops have been placed about the sultan's palace and the sultan is virtually a prisoner.

The new cabinet, under Shekfat Pasha, as grand vizier, it is reported, has decided to recall the Ottoman peace delegates from London. The government is said to also have requested its ambassadors at Vienna and St. Petersburg to return to the Turkish capital.

Talaat Bey, the new minister of the interior, informed the European embassies that all measures necessary to insure the security of the city had been taken. He also addressed circulars to the provincial governors explaining the reasons for the change in the government and calling upon the people to lend their aid to the government. "We are determined," he said, "to defend the interests of the country, now face to face with the prospect of a resumption of hostilities."

Envey Bey, who has taken such a prominent part in the overthrow of Kiamil Pasha's cabinet, is the popular hero of the day. He was appointed chief of the general staff of the Turkish army.

Nazim Pasha's death by a shot from the revolver of Enver Bey or Talaat Bey, is believed to have been accidental. The two officers, in order to protect themselves from the fire of Nazim's aide-de-camp, who had shot at them from a window, drew their revolvers and emptied them at him. A bullet struck and killed Nazim Pasha, who was seated inside the room.

The scene outside the offices of the grand vizier when the leaders of the Young Turk party arrived there was dramatic. The excitement became tense when Enver Bey, mounted on a white charger, came in view, accompanied by several Turkish staff officers. As he dismounted and made his request for an audience with the grand vizier, the gates closed as though automatically.

Accompanied by the commandant, they walked straight to the council chamber, where most of the ministers were, and without any preliminaries called upon the cabinet to resign. The demand seemed to be expected, for Kiamil Pasha immediately sat down and wrote his resignation.

Enver Bey took it and proceeded to the sultan's palace amid the cheers of the crowd. The sultan at first was disinclined to accept the resignation as genuine, but after sending a messenger to the grand vizierate and obtaining confirmation, he called for Mahmoud Shekfat Pasha and promptly appointed him grand vizier.

Banker Says Past 60 Days Have Been Ones of Tightest Money Since 1907.

New York, Jan. 25.—"We have just passed through sixty days of the tightest money we have had since 1907, and if anything had blown up, if anything had happened to frighten the people, we would have had another panic."

This was the declaration of James B. Forgan, president of the National City Bank of Chicago, at the dinner of the New York Credit Men's association. Mr. Forgan, who was talking on "How to Avoid Another Panic," added:

"In the last sixty days there has been hardly a bank that has held a lawful reserve, and the controller of the currency has wisely said nothing about it, for he is a broad-minded, sensible fellow. A central bank would forever quiet the fears of the people, for it would be backed up by the government."

OFFERS FORTUNE FOR TUBERCULOSIS CURE

New York Banker Will Give $1,000,000 For Serum.

New York, Jan. 25.—Charles E. Finlay, president of the Aetna National bank, said that he is ready to pay $1,000,000 to bring to America the tuberculosis serum discovered by Dr. F. F. Friedmann, of Berlin, if it can be demonstrated in New York that the treatment will cure 95 out of 100 cases.

To test the cure Mr. Finlay proposes to hire a sanitarium in New York and treat 100 tubercular patients free of charge. The first of these patients will be his son-in-law, Rex Lee Paris, a Princeton athlete of the class of 1908, who married his daughter and subsequently developed tuberculosis. Mr. Finlay said that his interest in the cure had its origin in his consideration for his son-in-law.

About three weeks ago Mr. Finlay read of Dr. Friedmann's success with the serum and wrote to him. Dr. Friedmann's brother, Dr. Arthur Friedmann, of Colorado Springs, took the matter up with Mr. Finlay, and there was a conference at the Aetna bank.

Mr. Finlay received a cablegram from Dr. Friedmann in Berlin, saying that his offer looked more reasonable than any previously received. Mr. Finlay expects to receive a definite response from him within forty-eight hours.

Mr. Finlay said that he had offered to pay Dr. Friedmann's expenses to this country and also the cost of a test on 100 patients, which will amount to nearly $40,000.

ASKS BIDS FOR 12,300 CARS

Pennsylvania System to Spend Millions to Enlarge Equipment.

Philadelphia, Jan. 25.—The Pennsylvania railroad system requested bids from freight car builders for 12,300 cars, involving a probable expenditure of about $16,000,000.

Of these cars 10,000 will be additions to the system's equipment, while 2,300 will represent replacements. As these replacements, however, will in all cases be cars of 100,000 pounds capacity, whereas the worn out cars had only an average capacity of 60,000 pounds, there will be an addition to the carrying capacity of the company of about 40,000 pounds per car, which will bring the total replacements and additions to about 546,000 tons.

Blow Safe in Daylight.

New York, Jan. 25.—Windows in houses for more than a quarter of a block rattled in their casings when yeggmen blew the 700-pound safe in the drug store of Henry Keefer, of Williamsburg, with nitroglycerine. They escaped with $547 in cash and about $700 worth of jewelry belonging to Mrs. Keefer.

Brady Elected U. S. Senator in Idaho. Boise, Idaho, Jan. 25.—Former Governor James H. Brady was elected United States senator for the short term on joint ballot of the legislature.

FORCED OUT BY GARY, SAYS COREY

Former Steel President Tells Why He Resigned.

FRICITION WAS THE CAUSE

Reiterates Charge That Judge Gary Knew of Pools Long Before They Were Abolished.

New York, Jan. 25.—That his resignation as president of the United States Steel corporation in 1910 was the sequel of a dispute between himself and Judge E. H. Gary as to who was chief in authority, and that the finance committee of the corporation had upheld Judge Gary, was the admission made by William E. Corey, former president of the corporation, on cross-examination in the government's suit to dissolve the combination under the Sherman anti-trust law.

This came somewhat reluctantly from Mr. Corey after he had declared that the participation of subsidiaries of the steel corporation in pools organized for the purpose of fixing prices was known to Judge Gary, chairman of the corporation, long before he gave the orders that the pools should be abolished.

This charge gave direct contradiction to that of Chairman Gary before the Stanley steel investigating committee, that, with the exception of the "rail combination," which he said did not fix prices, he had no knowledge of the existence of pools and had ordered them abolished as soon as they had been brought to his attention. This was in the latter part of 1904.

Mr. Corey swore that Judge Gary "knew all about the pools all the time, because he attended some of the meetings." Although a meeting of the plate and structural pool "in 1902 or 1903" was the only one at which he could distinctly remember that Judge Gary was present, Mr. Corey said he was sure he was present at other meetings.

"Are you sure that Judge Gary was present at the structural meeting?" asked C. A. Severance, attorney for the corporation.

"Absolutely," answered Mr. Corey.

Unable to shake the testimony of the witness, Mr. Severance held a conference with associate counsel.

"You left the steel corporation with some ill feeling toward Judge Gary, didn't you?" asked Mr. Severance.

"We were not always in accord, but I don't think it was ill feeling," replied the witness.

"There was some question as to who was the chief executive, was there not?"

"And it was put up to the finance committee and the committee supported Judge Gary, did it not?"

"That's about right," Mr. Corey said. Mr. Corey could not be induced to alter his previous testimony that the Tennessee Coal and Iron company was a steel rail competitor of the steel corporation before it was taken over by the corporation during the panic of 1907. He said he had opposed its acquisition on the ground that the price was too high. John W. Gates and others, who controlled it, had placed a "nuisance value" on the properties, he said, and it would have continued a competitor of the corporation if it had not been taken over.

Mr. Corey also persisted in his opinion that the price paid by the steel corporation for the lease of the Great Northern ore lands was too high, although counsel for the Great Northern are trustees, defendants in the suit, made every effort to confute his testimony.

Mr. Corey was asked concerning the steel rail pool among American manufacturers, including the corporation. He said that the pool has a "hang over" from a pool that existed before the corporation was organized. It was broken up, he said, in 1904 or 1905.

Thereafter, Mr. Corey testified, some other manufacturers wanted to raise the price on several occasions, but the steel corporation declined.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK TRAIN

Iron Plates Placed on Track in Effort to Derail Reading Accommodation.

Pottstown, Pa., Jan. 25.—An attempt was made to wreck the Reading railway accommodation train, leaving this city for Philadelphia, near Stowe.

The train was making forty miles an hour, and though an effort was made to check the speed it was impossible to avoid striking the iron plates which had been placed on the track. The locomotive was not derailed.

BARKER AFFIDAVIT GIVEN COAL PROBERS

It Declares Financier Saw Reading Cost Sheet.

Philadelphia, Jan. 25.—Despite the strenuous protests by counsel for the Reading railway, the complainants succeeded in getting into evidence before the state railroad commission the much-heralded Wharton Barker affidavit, indicating that he had seen documents showing the cost of transporting hard coal from the mines to Philadelphia between the years 1889 and 1905.

The complainants were further encouraged by a favorable consideration of their application that an accountant be appointed by the commission to prove the books of the Reading railway to learn if records are not kept showing the per ton cost of transporting coal.

During the investigation of the hard coal freight rates, which closed in Philadelphia on Dec. 10, witnesses for the Reading testified that such records were not available.

Former Governor Pennypacker was the only member of the commission who sat at the reopening of the investigation.

Mr. Pennypacker refused to admit evidence offered by Mr. Pierson, through which the lawyer intended to place on the stand Harry E. Bellis, the principal complainant and rate investigator. While this evidence was not made public at the hearing, Mr. Bellis said it shows that the cost of transporting a ton of coal over the Reading lines now is 15 cents less than thirty-three years ago, when the cost was 24 cents a ton.

Mr. Pierson sought to get before the commission the Barker testimony before a committee of the United States senate, two years ago, in which the financier indicated that the cost of transporting coal from the mines to Philadelphia should not exceed 97 cents a ton, this price leaving 6 per cent interest on railroad investment.

Mr. Heebner objected and was sustained. Mr. Pennypacker ruling that such evidence is irrelevant to the present proceedings.

THAT TIRED FEELING

Suggests Grandmother's Remedy

It's true, the season is here with its sudden changes, and the old idea that we need a blood medicine is not without reason. Too much heavy food has caused a torpid liver, sluggish blood, and a weak, tired out feeling.

Sulphur, cream of tartar and molasses was grandmother's remedy but that has long been displaced by Vinol, a combination of the two most world famous tonics, namely, the medicinal curative elements of the cod liver without oil, and iron for the blood.

Vinol builds you up, makes you eat more and digest better, makes your blood rich and pure—puts healthy color in your cheeks.

P. O. Barker of Bowen's Mill, Ga., says: "When I was badly run down last spring I took Vinol in an effort to regain my health and strength and it did not disappoint me. It made me feel as well as ever."

We guarantee Vinol to satisfy you and refund your money if it does not. People's Drug Store, Gettysburg, Pa. P. S. For children's Eczema, Saxo Salve is guaranteed truly wonderful.

DEMOCRATS OPPOSE PUBLIC RECEPTION

Only the Inaugural Parade Now Remains.

Washington, Jan. 25.—There will be no inaugural reception marking the induction into office of Woodrow Wilson.

The Democrats of the senate are charged with the responsibility of blocking the suggested public reception which was to be a substitute for the inaugural ball. Mr. Wilson's inauguration will be marked by Democratic simplicity. There remains now only the inaugural parade, and some of the Washington people are fearful that this may be eliminated.

While the senate Democrats individually and collectively assume the responsibility of blocking the public reception, the fact is that Governor Wilson is indirectly charged with this also. His statement at Trenton that he would be "perfectly content" to have the reception cut out of the program is believed to have caused the Democrats in caucus to vote unanimously against the use of the capitol building for a reception.

The caucus also reaffirmed their determination to permit none of President Taft's nominations to be confirmed at this time, with the exception of army, navy and diplomatic appointments.

AMERICAN AIRMAN KILLED

Frank Boland's Biplane Dives to Earth in Trinidad Flight.

Trinidad, Jan. 25.—Frank Boland, an American aviator, was killed while flying here.

He was returning to the landing place when his biplane suddenly dived and struck the ground with terrific force. Boland was found dead beneath his machine.

Two Aviators Meet Death.

MORGAN PARTNER DENIES CONTROL

Refutes Charge That 180 Men Direct Billions.

RAPS POOR BANK SYSTEM

H. P. Davison Takes Issue With the Statistics of the Money Trust Probers.

Washington, Jan. 25.—In an effort to refute the contention that a group of 180 men, through interlocking directorates, control corporation assets aggregating $25,000,000,000, Henry P. Davison, partner of J. Pierpont Morgan, offered to the house "money trust" investigating committee a statement intended to controvert statistics prepared by the committee's accountants.

The committee decided to deliberate whether to admit the statement as evidence. Davison thereupon gave out copies. The document reviews the inferences drawn from the committee's tables, and says in part:

"No such control exists, and those who have made such deductions have fallen into several obvious errors. They failed to observe:

"First, that of the total number of directors in these particular corporations this 'group' represents only about one-quarter.

"Second, that upon this assumption, these men, in order to exercise 'control,' must act and vote in every instance as a unit, although they come from different parts of the country and represent diverse and frequently conflicting interests.

"Third, that upon this assumption the directors outside of this 'group' must be mere dummies, with no voice or opinion of their own, who in almost every instance are overruled by a minority.

"Finally, that this sum of $25,000,000,000 is not actual cash or liquid assets, susceptible of manipulation or misuse by the directors, the fact of course being that the great bulk of this enormous sum is, and for many years has been tied up in the form of rights of way, railroads, equipment, factories, plants, tools, manufactured goods and other forms of corporate property necessary for carrying on railroad and industrial business in the country.

"It is most regrettable and harmful that either congress or the country at large should gain the wholly erroneous impression that these great resources are at the disposition of a small group of men, or with corporations themselves, are controlled by a minority of their various boards.

"The great accumulation of money and credits in New York is due in part to purely economic conditions and in part to the defects of our banking system. If this country possessed a proper and scientific banking system, such as is possessed by almost every other civilized nation, interior banks would no longer be obliged to concentrate their 'reserves' in New York.

"We believe that the country will continue to be subject to financial ills and disturbances until it possesses a strong and more scientific banking and currency system. To secure prompt and wise legislation in these matters, our firm and, we believe, bankers throughout the country will, by every means within their power, co-operate with congress."

Too many banks and trust companies are a potent cause of financial troubles, according to Jacob H. Schiff, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., New York.

This opinion was delivered in a letter from Mr. Schiff to amplify his recent testimony before the probers, read before the examination of Davison was resumed.

"If I had the opportunity," Mr. Schiff wrote, "to make proper answers to your questions, I should not have hesitated to state that the multiplication of banks and trust companies has heretofore led to an over-extension of credit, to over-trading and to illegitimate conditions in general, and that the financial panic of 1907 and other financial depressions that have preceded it, have largely been brought on by the too great multiplication of banks and trust companies."

Nevada For Suffrage.

Carson, Nev., Jan. 25.—Woman suffrage passed the general assembly here with only three dissenting votes. The measure will go to the senate on Monday, and should it pass, as is generally expected, will be submitted to popular vote at the next general election.

Another Barley Seizure.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Six more carloads of barley alleged to be adulterated with screenings and weed seeds were seized by federal officials at Hawthorne, a suburb.

Fireman Drowns at Fire.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 25.—One fireman was drowned and ten were overcome at a fire here. The fireman was overcome by ether fumes and, falling, was drowned in three feet of water.

EUGENE V. DEBS ARRESTED

Socialist Presidential Candidate Charged With Obstructing Justice.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 25.—Eugene V. Debs, Socialist candidate for president of the United States in the last election, was arrested here on an indictment against him in the federal court for the third district of Kansas.

Debs was charged with obstructing justice. The warrant was served in Debs' office, and he accompanied the officers to the office of United States Commissioner Orph N. Hall, where he furnished $1000 bond for his appearance.

Debs wrote an expose of alleged conditions in the Fort Leavenworth prison for the Appeal to Reason, which caused a government investigation.

The matter printed in the Appeal was considered improper by the federal grand jury, and action was then brought against the editors for sending it through the mails.

The witnesses in this case, it is alleged, Mr. Debs encouraged to leave the jurisdiction of the court. Mr. Debs brands the indictment as an effort to ruin the Appeal to Reason.

NO ELECTION AT DOVER

Saulsbury Still Leading in Delaware Senatorial Race.

Dover, Del., Jan. 25.—The ballot for United States senator by the Delaware legislature in joint session resulted: Democrats—Willard Saulsbury, 23; James A. Hughes, 3; L. Irving Handy, 1. Republicans—Former Governor S. S. Pennewill, 5; Senator Richardson, 3; T. Coleman Dupont, 3; the remainder scattering; no choice.

The second ballot showed no change, except that eleven Republicans voted for former Governor Pennewill.

Taft Pardons Two.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Varied appeals for mercy from federal prisoners, ranging from the call of dependent families for support to the heroism of convicts, excited the sympathy of President Taft, who granted two pardons and five commutations of sentences.

He restored the civil rights of six ex-convicts and denied clemency to nine prisoners.

Heroism of an Indian.

A few years ago in northern Mexico a truck carrying a load of dynamite for use at a mine was suddenly discovered to be on fire at a village station. The risk was imminent, so the driver of a locomotive engine packed the truck up and ran it away into the country at all the speed he could put on.

He bade the brakeman jump off and save himself, adding, "I go to my death." When he had got a mile away the dynamite exploded. Every window in the village was broken, and he was blown to atoms, but the inhabitants were saved. He was a pure blooded Indian.—South America," by James Bryce.

"What's Your Name?"—"What."

A guild of godparents to save children from incongruous names is being suggested. The late Canon Bardsey, author of a book on English names, told the story of what was probably the most idiotic name ever bestowed upon an unfortunate infant.

A woman had her son baptized What, for no other reason than to cause amusement in future years when, being asked his name, he should reply "What."—London Chronicle.

Medical Note.

"Hello, Jones! I hear you were sick."

"Ah, he arrested it for making threats. I suppose."—Boston Transcript.

Good Reason.

"What on earth made you that comfortable when we have more now in the house than we need?"

"I guess it was because I saw it marked 'Down'."—Exchange.

Appreciation.

A city man who had made good financially and socially was showing his country friend over his newly built house. It was furnished most luxuriously, and as one room after another was visited the farmer's silence increased. The city man, thinking his old country friend was too full for utterance, asked him when the last room, with its heavy furnishings, was inspected. "Well, Josiah, what do you think of it all?"

"I've been thinkin', Henry," replied the farmer, "what an all-fired job you'd have if you had ter move."—Judge.

One of Erskine's Puns.

Lord Erskine rather prettily combined pun with compliment in an epigram he forwarded to Lady Payne in answer to her various inquiries as to his health:

"Tis true I am ill, but I need not complain. For he never knew pleasure who never knew Payne."

FAVOR CONTROL OF THE RIVERS

Conservationists Work Together to Develop State's Resources

WATER PLANS ARE INDORSED

National and State Conservation Associations in Sympathy With Aims of Organization Wishing to Secure Wisest Beneficial Use of the Streams of Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 23.—W. B. Bennett, secretary of the Water Utilization Association of Pennsylvania, today called attention to the fact that the platforms of the National Conservation association and the Pennsylvania Conservation association advocate the same principles that the new organization stands for. The latter body is seeking legislation at Harrisburg at the present session to permit the development of the state's water resources for public and private benefit.

"An examination of the platforms of the leading conservation associations in the nation and state," said Mr. Bennett, "shows that they approve of the aims of the Water Utilization association. For example, Philip P. Wells, counsel for the National Conservation association of which Gifford Pinchot is president, in his statement on 'Water Power-Outlines of Public Policy' says:

"1. Water power development should be: 1. Prompt. Power sites should be developed, not held for speculative purposes. 2. Complete. Cheap and partial development for large and quick profits should not take place so as to prevent full developments for moderate profits. The rich cream should not be skimmed and the milk thrown away." And

"3. Private enterprise is not self-sufficient to assure to the public such development. Public aid is needed in one or more of the following ways: 2. Authority to use private lands without the owner's consent, if consent is refused. (Eminent domain). 3. The same as to private water rights. 7. Authority to assess the cost of water storage upon the lands especially benefited thereby. All power sites below the reservoir are so benefited." And

"4. In seeking such public aid the water companies may rightfully demand: 1. Certainty of tenure. Leases and franchises should be irrevocable, except for a breach of condition, for a fixed term of years. 4. A fair chance for a generous profit on the investment. This will encourage development. 5. To these should be added: Fair compensation for permanent works taken from the company at the expiration of its franchise, lease or privilege."

"From the 'Ten Commandments' of the Pennsylvania Conservation association of which A. B. Parquhar is president, the following have been taken:

"4. Watercourses as a Public Resource. The waters of the state are one of its most important assets. They should be systematically mapped and considered, and eventually developed and utilized for the equal benefit of all citizens. In such development every stream should be considered as a unit from its source to its mouth. Domestic and municipal water supply should be recognized as the highest use and consideration of the value of the stream as a potential source of attracting revenue by reason of its scenic beauty and for its educational worth should rank as equal in importance with its potential value in respect to navigation and the production of power; and preference rights should be recognized and granted in the order of the above uses in all cases where projects for two or more of these uses conflict. There should be every endeavor to combine these various uses in so far as such combination may be found practicable. For these ends the co-operation of the federal government may require to be sought. Existing private rights in waters and riparian lands should not be enlarged, except upon conditions adequate to insure full public control."

"5. Supervision of Use of Water by Corporations. Private projects for water power development seeking state aid in the form of a corporate franchise carrying the right to condemn property, to use land or water rights belonging to the public, to obstruct navigable rivers, or otherwise, should be subjected to careful consideration and to strict regulation in order to secure prompt, complete and orderly development; efficient service at fair prices and on equal terms to all consumers in like conditions; full public information as to costs and profits; honest capitalization on the basis of cost; and fair rentals for public property used within the franchisees granted. No water power franchisees or privileges should be granted for a longer period than from thirty to fifty years, with a provision for a readjustment of the compensation or terms at least each ten years, and any assignment of the right or privilege should require the approval of the proper state authorities to be legal."

"The Water Utilization association," concluded Mr. Bennett, "was formed to secure all these desired benefits to the people of the state and to capital willing to invest its money in such projects."

CAFES IN BRAZIL.

With a Glimpse of Rio de Janeiro's Twenty Foot Wide Broadway.

Downtown in the commercial part of Rio de Janeiro is the noisy, vivacious Rua do Ouvidor, of all things Rio de Janeiro the one that possesses the most individuality, the place where everybody who is anybody is to be seen.

It is only about twenty feet wide. Just think of it—the Broadway of a great city like Rio!—so narrow and crowded that vehicles are not allowed to go through at certain hours of the day, but most of the somber Portuguese style buildings have been replaced by modern ones, and what it lacks in width is compensated for by the attractiveness of the stores and cafes.

These cafes, principally devoted to the service of the demitasse, are everywhere in Brazil, but here particularly they are the rendezvous for the official, military, professional and more prosperous commercial classes, who drop in at all hours to talk things over to the music of the orchestra—everything from business, religion and politics to the latest society gossip, only they sip coffee, for the most part, instead of highballs and beer.

And such coffee! A North American never realizes what a perfectly delectable flavor coffee really is capable of, how deliciously rich and sirupy it is when brewed by those who know how, until he has drunk it in the orient or down here in Brazil.—From "Through South America," by Harry W. Van Dyke.

BEYOND THE TOMB.

Victor Hugo's Views on the Immortality of the Soul.

Victor Hugo's opinion on the question of life beyond the grave was a remarkable one. The great Frenchman was truly convinced that he would meet all his friends in a future world. He was equally sure that he had always existed from the antediluvian times, when the Creator placed him on earth. He believed that he would exist forever, inasmuch as he felt in his soul thousands of hymns, dramas and poems that had never found expression.

When the atheists would say to him, "The proof that you will not exist in the future is that you did not exist in the past," Hugo would answer:

"Who told you I did not exist in the past centuries? You will say that is the legend of the ages. The poet has written, 'Life is a fairy tale twice written.' He might have said a thousand times written. You do not believe in the doctrine of surviving personalities for the reason that you do not recollect your anterior existence. But how can the recollection of vanished ages remain imprinted on your memory when you do not remember a thousand and one scenes and events of your present life? Since 1802 there have been ten Victor Hugos in me. Do you think that I can recall all their actions and all their thoughts?"

"The tomb is dark, and when I shall have passed the tomb to emerge into light once more all these Victor Hugos will be almost wholly strangers to me but it will always be the same soul."

Miscel.

Mrs. Gadsby—I'll get even with Mrs. Gable. Mrs. Gable—What has she done to you? Mrs. Gadsby—She told me that Mrs. Guffy wasn't at home, so I hurried over to make a call on her, and she was at home, after all.—Exchange
